Your rights as a data subject

We would first like to notify you of your rights as a data subject. These rights are set out in Articles 15 - 22 GDPR, and include:

- The right of access (Art. 15 GDPR),
- The right to rectification (Art. 16 GDPR),
- The right to data portability (Art. 20 GDPR),
- The right to object to data processing (Art. 21 GDPR),
- The right to erasure / right to be forgotten (Art. 17 GDPR),
- The right to restriction of data processing (Art. 18 GDPR).

To exercise these rights, please contact: datenschutz@frankenplastik.de. The same applies if you have any questions regarding data processing in our company or when you withdraw your consent. You also have a right of appeal to the relevant data protection supervisory authority.

Right to object

Please note the following with respect to your right to object:

If we process your personal data for direct marketing, you have the right to object to this data processing at any time without providing the reasons for such objection. This also applies to profiling insofar as it is associated with direct marketing.

If you object to the processing for direct marketing, we will no longer process your personal data for such purposes. The objection is free of charge and can be made informally, where appropriate to: datenschutz@frankenplastik.de.

Should we process your data to protect legitimate interests, you may object to such processing at any time for reasons that arise from your specific situation; this also applies to profiling based on these provisions.

We will then cease to process your personal information unless we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for processing such information that outweigh your interests, rights and freedoms, or the processing is intended to assert, exercise or defend legal claims.

Purposes and legal bases of data processing

The processing of your personal data complies with the provisions of the GDPR and all other applicable data protection regulations. Legal bases for data processing arise in particular from Art. 6 GDPR.

We use your data to initiate business, to fulfil contractual and legal obligations, to conduct the contractual relationship, to offer products and services and to consolidate customer relationships, which may include marketing and direct marketing.

Your consent also constitutes a legal basis for data processing. In this respect, we will inform you of the purposes of data processing and the right to withdraw your consent. If the consent also relates to the processing of special categories of personal data, we will explicitly notify you in the consent process.

Processing of special categories of personal data within the meaning of Art. 9 (1) GDPR may only take place where necessary on the grounds of legal regulations and there is no reason to assume that your legitimate interests should prevail to the exclusion of processing such data.

Data transfers / Disclosure to third parties

We will only transmit your data to third parties within the scope of given statutory provisions or based on consent. In all other cases, information will not be transferred to third parties unless we are obliged to do so owing to mandatory legal regulations (disclosure to external bodies, including the supervisory authorities or law enforcement authorities).

Data recipients / categories of recipients

In our organisation, we ensure that only individuals who are required to process the relevant data to fulfil their contractual and legal obligations are authorised to handle personal data.

In many cases, service providers assist our specialist departments to fulfil their tasks. The necessary data protection contract has been concluded with all service providers.

Transfers of personal data to third countries

A transfer of data to third countries (outside the European Union or the European Economic Area) shall only take place if required by law, if necessary for the conclusion or performance of a contract concluded or if you have provided your consent for such a transfer.

In this case, compliance with the level of the GDPR is maintained. Currently, we do not use service providers in third countries.

Period of data storage

We store your data for as long as such is required for the relevant processing purposes. Please note that numerous retention statutory periods require that data must be stored for a specific period of time. This relates in particular to retention obligations for commercial or fiscal purposes (e.g. commercial code, tax code, etc.). The data will be routinely deleted after use unless a further period of retention is required.

We may also retain data if you have given us your permission to do so, or in the event of any legal disputes and we use the evidence within the statutory limitation period, which may be up to 30 years; the standard limitation period is 3 years.

Secure transfer of data

We implement the appropriate technical and organisational security measures to ensure the optimal protection of the data stored by us against accidental or intentional manipulation, loss, destruction or access by unauthorised persons. The security levels are continuously reviewed in collaboration with security experts and adapted to new security standards.

The data exchange to and from our website is encrypted. We provide https as a transfer protocol for our website, and always use the current encryption. In addition, we offer our users content encryption in our contact forms and applications. We alone can decrypt this data. It is also possible to use alternative communication channels (e.g. surface mail).

Obligation to provide data

A range of personal data is required to establish, implement and terminate the obligation and the fulfilment of the relevant contractual and legal obligations. The same applies to the use of our website and the various functions we provide.

We have summarised the relevant details in the above point. In some cases, legal regulations require data to be collected or made available. Please note that it will not be possible to process your request or execute the underlying contractual obligation without this information.

Data categories, sources and origin of data

The data we process is defined by the relevant context: it depends on whether, for example, you place an order online, enter a request on our contact form or if you want to send us an application or submit a complaint.

Please note that we may also provide information at specific points for specific processing situations separately where appropriate, e.g. when uploading application documents or when making a contact request.

We collect and process the following data when you visit our website:

- Name of the Internet service provider
- Web browser and operating system used
- Information on the website from which you visited us
- The IP address by your allocated Internet service provider
- Files accessed, volume of data transferred, downloads/file export
- Information on websites accessed on our site, including date and time

For reasons of technical security (in particular to safeguard against attempts to attack of our web server), this data is stored in accordance with Article 6 (1) lit f GDPR. Anonymisation takes place no later than after seven days by abbreviating the IP address so that no reference is made to the user.

Contact form / Contact via email (Article 6 (1) lit a, b GDPR)

There is a contact form on our website that can be used for electronic contact. If you write to us via the contact form, we process the data you provide in the contact form to contact you and answer your questions and requests.

In addition, your IP address is processed for technical necessity as well as for legal protection. All other data are voluntary fields and can be provided optionally (e.g. to answer your questions more individually).

For this purpose, we will forward your contact request to the responsible persons. A list of possible responsible contact persons and distributors can be found on our contact page (domestic / foreign). If you contact us from a country in which we do not have our own branch office, we will forward your request to our responsible local distribution partner. If we receive (purchase) inquiries for these countries instead of the local distributor, we will forward them to the responsible distributor with the request to contact them. This is done due to the legitimate interest according to Art. 6 (1) lit. f GDPR on our part to get in touch with you in an uncomplicated and quick way. You have the right to object to this.

Here, the principle of data economy and data avoidance is observed, in that you only have to provide the data that we absolutely need to contact you. These are your first name, last name and e-mail address as well as the message field itself. All other data are voluntary fields and can be provided optionally (e.g. to answer your questions more individually).

If you contact us by e-mail, we will process the personal data provided in the e-mail for processing your request. Should the inquiry indicate that you desire a longer storage period, we will store the data accordingly longer.

YouTube PlugIn (Art. 6 para. 1 lit. a GDPR, § 25 para. 1 TTDSG)

YouTube is a video portal of YouTube, LLC, 901 Cherry Ave, San Bruno, CA 94066, USA (hereinafter "YouTube"). Within our online services, we have integrated at least one PlugIn from YouTube. When you activate the PlugIn, your browser establishes a direct connection with YouTube servers. This transmits the information to YouTube that your browser has visited the corresponding page of our online services, even if you do not have a YouTube account or are not logged into your account. This information is transmitted by your browser directly to a YouTube server located in the US and stored there.

If you are logged into your YouTube account at the same time, this would enable YouTube to assign your surfing behavior directly to your personal profile.

If you wish to prevent this transmission and storage of your data and your behavior on our online services by YouTube, you must log out of YouTube before visiting our site and delete any cookies placed by YouTube.

For more information on the collection and use of your data by YouTube, please refer to their privacy policy at https://www.YouTube.com/static?template=privacy_guidelines and Google's privacy policy at <https://www.google.com/policies/privacy/>.

Please note that in this context personal data may be processed in a third country, the US. Compliance with the European level of data protection for data transfer and processing in third countries is ensured by standard contractual clauses and additional guarantees. Data processing or storage in third countries can also take place on the basis of your consent (Art. 49 para. 1 lit. a GDPR), in which case you will be informed separately of this, as well as the possibility of revocation, when obtaining your consent. The legal basis for the use of the PlugIn is Art. 6 para. 1 lit. a GDPR, § 25 para. 1 TTDSG."
